(insert name of library) Posts 65 Reasons to Love Your Library

“How do I love thee? Let me count the ways,” begins one of the best loved of English poems. The (insert name of library), along with other libraries in Texas, has taken this question beyond the personal and come up with 65 Reasons to Love Your Library.

The 65 reasons are prominently displayed on a large poster in the library. Still, many patrons do not find all of their favorite loving reasons on the list and are pleased that the library has designated a special place for them to write in their additions.

“Whatever your reasons for loving your library – personal enjoyment, intellectual stimulation, children’s books and activities, research materials for school, home or work, or access to computers and the Internet, and more – we invite you to join us in celebrating those reasons. And we invite you to add your own reasons to the 65 Reasons to Love Your Library poster,” says (insert name and title of library staffer).

To celebrate the reasons (insert service area) residents love their local library, the (insert name of library) will feature several special events and programs for patrons of all ages over the next (insert approximate time period). These include the following:

(insert activities)

This schedule of events offers the opportunity for the residents of (insert service area) to come together to help celebrate and enjoy the many reasons to love your local library and to recognize the important role our local library plays in the cultural and economic success of our community and our nation.

For more information about the activities above, as well as the collections and services of (insert library name), call (insert telephone number) or log on to the library’s website at (insert web address).
